Time, Time, Time,

see what's become of me, as I look around at my possibilities...
(Simon & Garfunkel)

Well, just what the heck is TIME. Some of you will say "It's a weekly news magazine." and some will say "I don't know." and some will say, "Don't waste my time." yet you can't explain what time is.

We will try to explain.

In our society, Time is ... well let me see, hum, well time is , ah... Well let me put it this way time is ..uh. I know- Time is a'wastin', Time is of the essence, Time is money, Time to get it on. Wait let's go back in time and see how time has affected your life. (we can't really do this, but let's pretend)

Shortly before you were born (very shortly), your mother said, "Honey, I think it's time." When your father asked the hospital staff what was happening, they said, "Any time now." After you were born there was time for lots of new and exciting things. "It's nappy time." "It's time to change that diaper." "Time for din-din." As you got older, let's say about eight, you learned how to manage your time, but your parents orerrode your decision. This was totally unfair because any kid knows that if you watch TV until 10:30 you have plenty of time to do three hours of homework in 30 minutes. Then your parents hit you with the big one, it's time for bed. Ahhh Mom, why do I have to go to bed? Jimmie's (or Sue's, or Kip's, or Mark's etc..) Mom let's them stay up until (11, 12, 1, 2) or whatever time you had time to think of.

A little later in life, one of your parents will say, "It's TIME we had a talk." This is the time for the infamous birds & bees stuff. After this, everything changes. Because from here on you start getting new and wondferful time messages. "Isn't it time you cleaned your room without me telling you to." "Isn't it time you were looking for a JOB." "It's time to get up " And when you do something right, considerate, and on your own initiative you here, "Well it's about time." In school you learn that time is something to ... Wait, let's have a pop quiz.

Time is _____.

a. to waste

b. unimportant

c. to squander doing things like playing, talking for hours on the phone with a boy/girl friend who lives in another state, (which means that when your parents get the phone bill you will here, "I think it's time we put some limits on that kid.") to wander the halls talking with that special someone who you won't be able to stand next month.

d. part of a famous commercial, "If you've got the time. We've got the ...."

Gotcha, It's a Trick question! Time is not the same for everyone but we all go through it at the same time so there is no correct answer. (although I bet that most of you picked 'c')

Well, Time has certainly changed since you were young, so in the years to come; when it's Time to reflect, Time to look back, take the time to look back at the good Times, the sad Times, the growing up Times, the play Times, the Times of learning, the Times of yearning, the Times of friendships made and lost, the

Miss Willett

All of us have had a teacher who has really made an impact on our life. That teacher who made such an impact was usually kind, caring, somewhat strict and was always there when you needed them to be. All of these traits are true of the dedicatee, plus many others, that made Miss Willett the teacher to whom the 1993 Centurion is dedicated.

When you walk into Miss Willett's clasroom you take a step into the real world. There are teachers who teach strictly by the book, but you won't find that in Miss Willett's class. There is always some book work but there is always room for classroom discussion.

Classroom discussions give the students a chance to voice their opinions and get other points of view from their peers. These discussions are interesting for everybody involved with them. This idea of sharing is to get people to think and to listen to other students' ideas no matter how strange or different they may seem.

Miss Willett teaches Political Systems, Lawmaking and Criminal Justice, and Psychology. She is also one of our dedicated senior advisors. You have probably seen her at the Homecoming event, I'm sure that you saw her. She was dressed for the ocassion and if there was a contest for best costume for a faculty member she would have won hands down.

VACATIO

Winter or summer, vacation time is an important part of our lives. We have come to see these times as a necessary time to restore our psychie, to replenish our intellectual spirit, to go skiing, to go to the beach and catch some rays, to just hang with some buddies, to be cool.

For some, vacaton time is just another time to go to work to get those big bucks for college, car or insurance payments.

Beach babes...

Time for Work

What do these five seniors have in common? They all work after school. Maybe it's for spare pocket change, maybe to save money for a new car, or maybe it's because their parents forced them to gain some responsibility, and the only way to do that was to get a job.

"What a Wonderful Night"

On May 8, 1992 the junior class was all dressed up and arriving in limos for the prom at the La Renaissance. Rain started about ten minutes before we arrived, but the enthusiasm and excitement from the people inside would not let it put us down.

As we danced through the night some of us started planning on what to do the next day. Others were already on their way to the beach.

Top Right: Jamie Gilbert and Pam Steiner get ready to board the Excalliber limo they took to the prom. Thanksgiving Day

In most every town there are holiday traditions. Times shared with family and friends. In some towns there are parades, marching bands, football games. Families gathering for that scrumptious turkey with all the trimmings-cranberry sauce, stuffing, mashed potatoes, Aunt Betsy's mashed sweet potatoes with the melted marshmallows on top, fresh rolls. Good times shared with good people.

Thanksgiving in South Windsor is not without its traditions - there is this football game played against a team from Rockville. Perhaps some of you have heard of this team, the Rams?

Thanksgiving is a time for reflection, a time for contemplation, a time to look back on the good times of the year and to the coming year ahead. But most of all it's ...

A Time for Traditions

A Time for Thanks

Beauty can be held
But for only so long
A smile can only shine
Until that smile is gone
A sweet, gentle whisper
Is only as gentle as the words
A soft first touch
Is just as soft as the third

These may seem important
In their own little way
A memory of kindness
Will never fall astray.

1992 Varsity Football

Football is everywhere. You see jackets, hats, bumper stickers, and clothing all around. People from all over the country wear the emblems of their favorite teams. Football is watched Saturdays, Sundays, and Monday nights by at least one person in the average household.

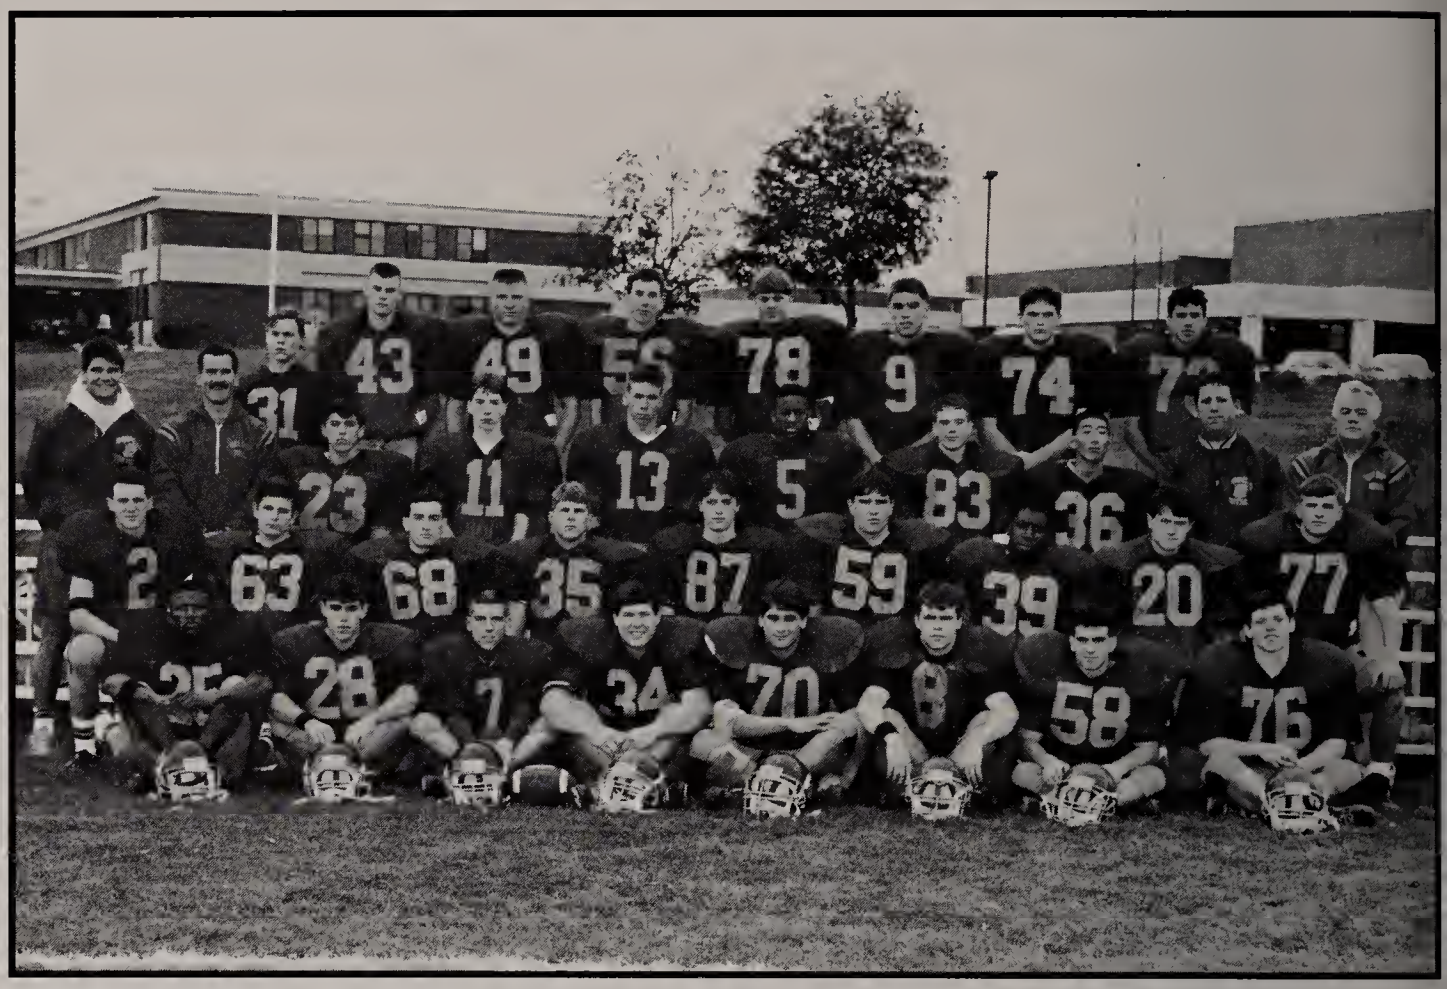

College football is watched when there are important bowl games being played. The college games are important not only because they determine the national champion but they let viewers see up and coming stars ready to make it to the pros, for some, their ultimate dream -to play professional football. High school football is like a training camp for more serious and competitive football that comes in college.

This is where the dream begins. You have to want to make it to the top from the first time you step out on the field. Some kids do this here at South Windsor and others help them out by being their friends and more important, their teammates.

"Football is not just a physical sport, there is a lot of mental preparation to prepare for the season. Many people don't realize that football is a year round sport. The coaches set up lifting and conditioning programs during the off season."

"Good luck to the '93' season and keep the trophy home where it belongs, at S.W."

Senior Co-Captain
Darren Levack

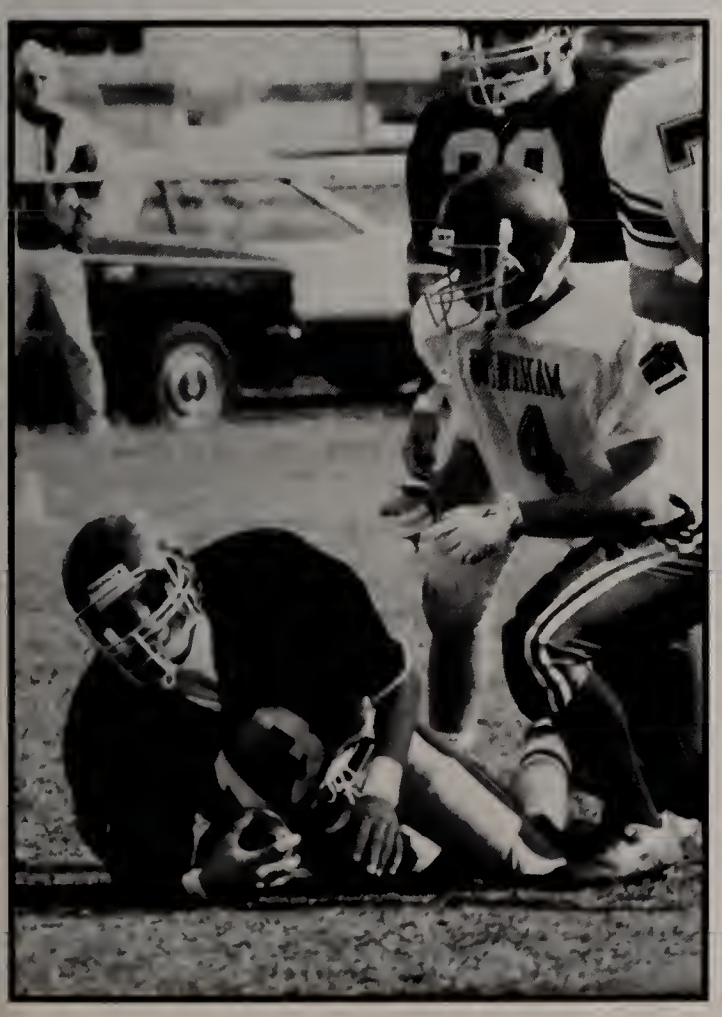

"Football has made me a better student, because I had to maintain good grades to stay on the team."

"You don't really appreciate football until the seasons over." Next year, when I come back to watch the games, I know I will miss the fun times that I had with the team. Good luck team of '93!"

Fall Cheerleaders

The SWHS cheerleading squad came back revitalized this year after experencing some problems the previous year. New coach, Terry Dame, had a big part in giving them their second wind. "She makes us work hard and be very dedicated", said Jess Dreiblatt a junior on the squad. The squad seems to work better together this year because of the companionship between members of the team. They encourage and help each other out which has greatly improved their overall performance.

The cheerleaders do a number of things to get spectators psyched. Many times the crowd even requests cheers such as Rock Steady and B-O-B-C-A-T-S. With such sucess this fall, the cheerleaders are looking at a prosperous year and a possibility for state competition.

Boys' Soccer

Injuries take their toll early in season

"There won't be much running,"

"We won't have to do any sprints."

These were a few of the things being said as we gathered around Coach Longo and the new J. V. coach, Ed Kennison.

"Well, first you guys will run the exercise trail and then there will be a lot of wind sprints." stated Coach Kennison. We could see that this coach meant business and we had to get in shape fast or else we were going to be in for a long season. A silence that overcame the team during this first team meeting was not because of all the runing we were going to be doing, but because the seniors on the team realized that this was it. Twelve weeks and then we would all be going our separate ways. Where did the time go? It seems like it was yesterday when we were playing at T. E.

The Bobcats went into the season healthy. With nine returning starters we were already in better shape than other teams in the league. Then several key members of the team suffer injuries.

Although the record doesn't show it, there were successes during the season. Three players were named to the All-Conference team; Dan Beaudry, for the second year in a row, Scott Marshall and Josh Poucher were named All-Conference for the first time.

Girls' Soccer

There's not one bad thought that comes to mind when I think about this years girls' soccer team. I wouldn't even categorize us as a team, but instead as a family. We all have been playing soccer together for as long as I can remember. It will definitely be hard to adjust to the fact that we will never be able to play in another game together again.

Seeing how I was injured at the beginning of our season, I had the chance to watch our team progress throughout the season. There is not one person who I could name and say that she was the most outstanding player because everyone tried their hardest every time they went onto the field. On our team we didn't play individually but instead we worked together as a team.

Throughout our season we've made so many good memories with each other, especially our trips to Rockville. We're going to have to hold onto those memories and make them last.

I don't know if many people realize how great our coach is. If it wasn't for Mr. Collins then we would have never made it as far as we did. I give him a lot of credit because personally I don't think I would be able to put up with half of the things that we put him through. He was the backbone of our whole team and he will be greatly missed by the 1993 graduates.

"GO SOUTH" is just one of the enthusiastic chants that you'll hear during a field hockey game. The players through good and bad are very supportive of each other.

This season their winning attitude paid off. The team made it to states with their outstanding 11-3 record. The final states game that our Bobcats played in was the most energetic thus far. It was chock full of sweat and tears. Every moment was more exciting than the one before it.

"I think we did well this season. The last game we worked well as a team," stated Lisa Shiffler, a Junior wing for the Varsity team. "It was upsetting losing the game in overtime, because we played so well; then lost. I think we'll go farther next year."

As for the Junior Varsity team, they ended the season with an incredible undefeated record.

State champions? No. Conference champions? No. A good season overall? Well, of course. Numerous strong finishes by Senior Kim Lewis, Junior Laura Davidson, Sophomores Stacy Goiangos and Mariah Zornig, and Freshman Carly Anderson highlighted the season. A promising future is also in store for the team which is loaded with young talent.

The girls were very competitive this season, and were always a threat to other teams. Another highlight was the fourth place finish in the state championship meet.

Coming next year, the Bobcats should be a major threat to any team that tries to get in their way. With experienced runners returning, and expected improvements from everyone, the Bobcats can set their eyes on a possible state championship.

In only her first season of cross country, Senior Kim Lewis captured the eyes of many. Facing tough competition, she was first to finish the 2.5 mile race in every dual meet of the season. The shock of the season came in the CCC East conference meet near the end of the season. Kim captured the title of the top runner in the CCC East with a strong first place finish. She made the All CCC East team along with the All State team. Said Kim of her accomplishments, "I was surprised at how well I did this season."

On a less serious note, Kim also proved that guys are not always better at sports than girls. After practice one day, talented Freshman runner Jason Bifolck challenged her to an exciting 800-meter race. The two were close throughout the race, with Jason leading from the beginning, but then came the last turn. Kim was right behind him, and began to overtake him. The two ran side by side, all out, until the finish line. Jason crossed the line but he was one second behind Kim.

One thing for sure this season is that Kim was satisfied with her efforts, especially after breaking the girls home course record.

Left: Peter Marotto works hard in a meet on South Windsor's home course. He and his brother Paul were among South Windsor's top seven runners.

A small army of runners destined to make themselves a known threat to any team that challenged them began the season early with a victory over St. Bernards and a close loss to Killingly.

Manchester and Windham were favorites to lead the conference, and in the first conference meet of the season, each was concerned about the other beating them. They both were astounded by a South Windsor victory over each of the two. With outstanding performances by Seniors John Hammond, Jason Dina, Matt Yoder, Tim Kiessling, Paul and Peter Marotto, Juniors Dan Sauer and Ken Miller, and lone Sophomore Nate Goard, the Bobcats were on a pace for a championship.

Victories, along with strong showings in invitational meets earned the Bobcats a ranking of #8 in the state. A trip to New York City to participate in the St. Anthony's invitational gave the team a break from the CCC East title race.

Nearing the end of the season, the Bobcats defeated Conard and Hall, both were strong teams, and achieved a ranking of #6 in the state. Now that South Windsor's success was known, other teams came prepared to do battle. A tie to Rockville was changed to a loss after a board ruling.

South was hungry for a conference championship, and more. Expecting a big challenge from Windham and Rockville, and some pressure from Manchester, South was well prepared. The result: Manchester won the meet, Windham won the conference, and South finishing a dissapointing third.

All State runner John Hammond was a major contributor to the sucess of the boys cross country team. Carrying the team's top spot throughout the season, John finished first in almost every race he ran. He and Senior Jason Dina ran in the National Cross Country Championships in Alabama. John leaves behind his school record for the course, which he had broken many times throughout the season.

Volleyball

The enthusiastic supporters of the 1992 girls volleyball team cheered the team to a successful year. Their record was an incredible 14-6 which made them qualify for states. They made it through the first game against Wethersfield with a score of 3-1. Unfortunately, they lost to a very tough team, Guilford, who was number five in the state. They have their new coach, Karen O'Brien to thank for their successful year. The way one player, Heather Ohliger, described her was, "she was great! She made us want to work hard to win." She taught many new skills and strategies which help them become a better, more aggressive team. All the team members put a lot effort into this season and they give credit to their new coach, Karen O'Brien. Hopefully, next season will be as good as this one.

The Icepersons Cometh

The Bobcat Icemen (and woman) had a season of ups and downs. Freshmen Allison Perkins became the first string goaltender midway through the season due to the inelligibility of Dave Healy. She recorded a victory in her first start, a 5-3 win (with 23 saves) over Simsbury. On her being treated like one of the guys, Coach Gunn said "I don't really think of her as a girl. The guys hit the puck as hard at her as they did at Dave. She has good physical skills."

Standouts for the team were; Senior Co-Captains Rob Corcoran and Jim Klemyk, and Juniors Roxy Vielleux and Jamie Graham. Although the team did not have a great season in terms of winning, they played well as a team and always played hard.

Boys' Basketball

This year was a rebuilding year for the Varsity boys basketball team. The team posted a five hundred season, with a record of 10—10. A highlight game of the season was when the Bobcats hosted Hartford Public. This game turned into a jam fest where Hartford Public basically ran away with the game. During the game, a Hartford player missed a dunk, the already roaring crowd came close to breaking the sound barrier when Justin Adams took the ball to the other end of the court and showed everyone how to dunk the correct way.

Junior Matt Landry was one of South's leading scorers, and will greatly help the team next year. Justin Adams with his dunking ability will continue to amaze the crowds next year.

Girls get new coach...

Casserino gets All-CCC East honors

"I feel that we should be very competative in our league."
"One of our overall goals is post season play."
"Our everyday goal is to try our best during practices as well as games."

These remarks came from new girls' basketball coach Paula Funk who took over this years' team from Coach Collins. When asked what the team needed, Coach Funk said, "We need to intensify our defense and re-bounding without turning the ball over." When asked about the opposition, Coach Funk commented that "Manchester, Fermi and Windham will be our biggest chalanges. They all have good speed and good shooters."

Of the new coach and the team, newcomer to the team, Michelle Burnham said, "We looked good in scrimmages both on offensive and defense."

Injuries to Maria Riccardone and Stacie Casserino proved costly to the Bobcats. These two seniors were team leaders and provided spark to the bobcat's offense.

Although a tough loss to Windham in the first round of the State Tournament ended the Bobcats' season, the year was a good one for the cats'.

Indoor Track Where Time is Everything!

One day walking through the halls minding my own business, my friends and I heard a very loud noise. It was getting closer and closer. We were suddenly overcome by a pack of sweating runners.

Once the final bell rings the hallways are transformed into straight aways and quarter mile courses. Those perspiring athletes are members of the girls and boys indoor track teams.

Both teams did extremely well this past season. The girls were fourth in the CCC and third in the state. The boys went second in the CCC and tied for third in the state. The girls team had a few outstanding runners; senior Kim Lewis, junior Jen Earle, sophmore Jen Salcius, and freshman Erica Rogasky. The boys also have some outstanding athletes; Jason Dina, Matt Yoder, John Hammond, Tim Kiessling, and Ed Casper, all seniors. Both teams are losing some of their best runners, but they plan to do well next year.

A winning season (9-6)... but oh those Injuries and away meets!

Co-captain Becky Mastronarde, Amy Gaudett and Jen Farinella suffered injuries early in the season which took its toll on the team, but this forced other team members to step foward and sometimes do double duty at many meets.

A drawback to the season was that there were only three home meets out of the twelve on the schedule. This forced the Bobcats to do most of their routines on other schools' equipment. The team almost made it to States, and several team members made the All-Conference squad.

Notes from an editor...

So you thought I was going to write about how we design the pages, write the stories, how we rush to meet our many deadlines, how much fun we had at the Josten's Summer Workshop or how some of us are taking this class for the second time?(Editors can do that) Well I have decided against that. "Besides," I thought, "You hear that every other year anyway." I wanted something with spice, tang, and zest! Something people will actually want to read! I've decided to give you the TRUTH~ the truth through my eyes! So here goes.

The bell sounds, you glance at your watch with dismay and scurry stealthily down the almost empty hallways. This is something that would rarely ever happen to most students on this year's staff. Instead, a typical day in yearbook class goes something like this...

...You walk through the doorway of room10 or try to sneak into room 11 among the many others, 2 or 3 minutes late, to the sonic boom of Mr. Nelson's voice as he hollers about some lost, missing, or misplaced pages and pictures.

After climbing your way around the wrestling clan of jocks, the piles of paper, (the residue of the Journalism classes), a group of girls socializing instead of working on yearbook material, you get out your pages and begin to get to work.

One problem with getting people to work is that you've got to assign them something that they will enjoy doing. Another problem as junior, Michelle Daigle, points out is, "Everybody has their own thing to do, so it's hard to find out how to do something."

Otherwise, for the most part, yearbook class is basically people running around trying to get candid photos and write the perfect stories. However, for some it is still a constant battle to avoid being caught eating all three lunches.

Despite the troubles that have faced this year's staff, we have managed to produce this yearbook. Without the help of our advisors (also our teachers), Mr. Nelson and Mr. Myette, we would not have a yearbook or the knowledge of how to produce it. Without Mr. Nelson and his great sense of humor, this class would have been pretty dull. Without his knowledge of computers and graphics, work for the students would have been much harder and more tedious. Without Mr. Myette, economically this class probably wouldn't have been as successful as it was this year. His exceptional business skills and persistence kept us on our toes.

To conclude this story I would like to mention that although there are always a lot of difficulties in getting things done, yearbook class is a great place to learn the techniques of journalism and graphic arts. I would not recommend this class to anyone who is not willing to put in the time and effort that is needed to produce this publication. For those of you who thought that this class was just another elective, TRY AGAIN!! For me this class gave me not only knowledge but self-satisfaction as well. To me, when I see the book at the end of the year, it makes the time and effort that we put into it well worth it. I hope that you appreciate it as well.

Laura Salimando

Chris Michalski has been chosen layout editor for the '94 Centurion. Chris will be going to the Josten's summer workshop to learn all the latest information on good design so that next year's Centurion will look great.

Chris also an athlete, participating on both the indoor and outdoor track teams.

Robb Crago has been taking photos for a number of years and will act as the Photo Editor on the '94 centurion staff.

Robb works at the 7-11 on Ellington Road when not taking photos or working in the darkroom making prints for the Journalism or Yearbook classes.

Southwinds

All the news that we need

Journalism/Graphic Communications classes provide students with with hands-on skills in Journalism & Graphic Arts and a good looking school paper.

The Journalism/Graphic Communications II class is responsible for the editing and production of The Southwinds.

John Hammond is the Graphics Editor and the lead pressman for the paper. "It's a lot of responsibility and sometimes a pain in the butt to get the paper out on time." says John, "But it's really a rush to see 1,000 copies of the paper you've just printed."

Doug McGray is Editor & Chief. "With Southwinds, I can let everybody know what I think; there is nothing like getting yelled at for writing a controversial story that really matters."

As managing Editor, Lisa Bartomeli feels that, "Working on the paper has given me an opportunity to learn about what goes on behind the scenes here at school and how school and newspaper policies are made."

Drama

New Auditorium, My Fair Lady, highlight Drama Clubs' year

When you now walk in through the front doors of our new main lobby and walk to the right, you will begin to step up the stairs which leads to our new auditorum. The old auditorium, which held four hundred people, is gone and in its place is a brand new one that can hold six hundred people. The Drama Club's production of My Fair Lady was the first preformance in the new facility. David & Lisa was the first play done by the club this year and was held in the new cafeteria. Nickelas Nickeleby will be presented later in the spring.

My Fair Lady was done very very wll. The play is about an upper class Englishman, Colonel Pickering, who bets that a master of phonetics, professor Henry Higgins, can each proper English to a poor peasant girl, Elliza Boolittle. The south Windsor production starred Lori Helbeg, Jeff Sted, Chris Briggs and Brian Griffin. The premier of the audotorium as well the play was a real treat for all.

Dave and Lisa is a dramatic play about friends helping each other. This play shows the audience all the steps on the road to recovery. David Cohen and Jen Redder did a out standing job in the challanging roles of David and Lisa.

Mock Trial

The Mock Trial team competed in the district competition, held at Man-chester Superior Court.

The Plaintiff (SW) was the first to present their side of the case against the always tough E.O. Smith. The following week, the Defense presented their side and won against East Hartford. Both sides have to win in order to go on to the state finals.

"I joined Mock Trial because I plan to pursue a career in law," said senior Carrie Jones, "and I thought it would give me a good idea on what to expect. It was a lot of fun and a great learning experience."

National Bicentennial Competition

The National Bicentennial Team is made up of the Political Science students who concentrate on different aspects of the Constitution. There are six separate teams and each one takes a different section to study.

Since this year's Political Science class was unusually small some students had to double up on units making it exceptionally challenging. We automatically won the district competition because no school was willing to compete against us. South Windsor took third place in the state competition.

"A few of us thought it would be a disadvantage to not go through a district competition but I think we did the best job we could. Even though we didn't win, what we learned through the process was just as fullfilling." said a team member.

"Attention Global Awarness/Amnesty International Members: We will be meeting this Wednesday at 2:07 in room 207."

This morning announcement was heard through the class rooms all year long. GA and AI has had a great year. As long as members come to the meetings, there will always be something to do and membership has been preety steady all year. The club is an excellent way to get the school informed about the enviromental and humanitarian issues. The club has been under new direction this year, so hopefully, even more can be done to help our mother earth and our fellow human beings in the future.

Peer Advocates

Peer Advocates are a group of students that help other students with problems .The Peer Advocates received training in a class they took called "Foundations in Counciling". The students had to all go through an aplication process to become a peer advocate. The Peer Advocates have there own office in the guidance offices. There is a Peer Advocate scheduled to be in the office for every period where other students can go and discuss any problems that they might have or get scholastic help.

World Affairs

The newly created World Affairs club has had a busy spring. They went to the model United Nations as representatives of four different countries. At the Model U.N., the students acted as their country's delegates and had to develope strategies and diplomatic relations with other student delegations in order to get something accomplished.

Bikers at SWHS!

When the term biker is used, one thinks of the Hells Angels clad in leather, riding their big Harley Hogs. But at the high school you'll find just a bunch of guys on their mountain bikes.

Led by the cycling pros, Mr. Mothersele and Mr. Graner, these bikers take off on fall and spring afternoons to do 10, 15 or 20 miles of pedeling.

Outing Club...

Time to get OUT and do

The Outing Club... Many people. Many different interests. Skiing, hiking, rafting, mountain biking, whale watching, horse back riding.

"I've been in Outing club for four years" says senior Mark Jarvis, "being with friends, having a good time outdoors is what this club is all about. The comraderie is just great... I mean–going down the 'Outer Limits' trail at Killington with Jamie or Pam or Gus is something that you can't really explain. As they say, You had to be there."

Miss Cloutier and Mr Cloutman have done a terrific job running the club for the past two years. They have added new activities and student interest is growing. Next year a ski trip to Tahoe is a possibility. Don't sit around– get out and do.

Mr Rioux took over The Outing Club from Mr. Brown about 1969 and ran it for the next 22 years.

"At the high-point of the club, I guess about 1973-74, we had about 450 kids in the club. Mr. Cloutman and I used to have three buses of kids on some of our weekend ski trips." said Mr Rioux. "In all those years and trips, I'm amazed at the low number of injuries we've had." he continued.

"Now I go on the trips as a chaperone and I don't have the responsibilities of planning the trip, collecting the money or making the rest of the arrangements."

Jackson Hole

Friday morning I woke up and couldn't believe that I'd be in Jackson Hole that evening. I have been looking forward to this adventure for a long time. Because of the snow storm, that caused school to be closed at noon, that same day, I spent the night in Cleveland, I was not alone, the nineteen of us, being the adventures we were took Cleveland and it's lousy pizza in stride. Early the next morning we boarded the plane to Denver. We finally arrived at our destination... JACKSON HOLE, WYOMING!!!

Yes, it was snowing. The ground was covered with approximately two feet of fresh powder and from that moment on we were in skiing heaven. We got on the shuttle bus and headed for our slope-side condo. Early the next morning we were skiing (or snowboarding) the unbelievable western snow. I just couldn't believe was I skiing Jackson Hole.

We skied most days from 9 -4 with only a half hour lunch break. The powder was light and fluffy. By the time we got back to our condo for a great dinner cooked by Mr. Nelson we were exhausted from skiing the powdery bumps. Even if you didn't ski you still had plenty of things to do. We relaxed by spending an hour or so in the hot tub and also took dips in the heated pool. It was very relaxing and helped revive our aching muscles.

On Tuesday we took a trip to Grand Targhee which is on the Eastern side of the Grand Tetons. Targhee is known for it's great amount of powder and gets twice as much snow as Jackson Hole. We skied in knee-deep powder all day.

We skied a couple more days at Jackson and then it was time to pack up and head for the airport. We packed all of our stuff and wished we could stay longer, some thought that forever would be nice. At this time everyone was silent and had long faces. We got our things on the shuttle bus and waited for the adults for about ten minutes. Miss Cloutier came on the bus and announced that the plane had been delayed in Denver due to snow and might be cancelled if it didn't stop snowing in Jackson. We were surprised, relieved, shocked and excited, all at the same time. So we had to unload the shuttle and went back to the boys' condo. We were told that we were not leaving until early the next morning.

We sat around until 1:15 when we where told that the plane had left Denver and we had 45 minutes to reload the bus and get to the Airport (a 35 minute drive). So we saddled up and got on the shuttle once more and headed to the airport.

We arrived at Bradley at 11:30 Friday night. It was a long flight home, and everyone was very quiet. We got off the plane and greeted our parents at the gate, grabbed our luggage and headed home.

I still couldn't believe it was over. During this trip I took five rolls of film just so I will remember the time of my life. We also have a video tape that Carleen Longano had taken with her camcorder.

This trip, well let's just say that it was unlike anything I had ever done. It was my first plane trip, first time roasting marshmellows and just one heck of a good time. I was with good friends and fellow skiers and had the time of my life! Well I'll see you on the slopes. Keep on skiing!!!

By Jamie Gilbert

Right: Who says you can't teach a old dog new tricks, Mr. Nelson started skiing three years and finally realized that to become a real skier, must take occaisional roll in the snow. Below: Carleen Longano, Liz Mangeon and Mrs. Cloutier getting buckled up and ready to conquer the slopes at Grand Targhee

Above: Mark Jarvis, Jeremy Carfi and Jamie Gilbert take a moment to relax after a hard day of skiing. Far Left: Jamie Gilbert prepares to roast marshmellows for the first time in his life Left: Doreen Brown and Sue Pilver have a huge smile for the camera after coming in from the cold.

Time For Individuality: Individuality is a special kind of uniqueness that comes from within. Individuality may be an act that would ordinarily be considered off the wall or bizarre. Individuality allows a diverse amount of personalities within our school.

Intino, Candice 24, 47, 168

Just in Time: We all have had to rush around to be just in time. There are times when we wake up late in the morning and we make it just in time for school. On the weekends some of us have to make it home just in time for our curfew.

Yesterday's Time: Yesterday's time reminds us of how people places and things have changed. South Windsor high is a whole different place now. The only thing that stays the same is the familiar faces we've grown up with.

Colophon

The Centurion is the yearbook for South windsor High School, South Windsor, CT 06074, 203-648-5000

South Windsor High School is a comprehensive high school with a school population of 1024 in grades 9-12.

We, the staff of the '93 Centurion, would like to thank our Josten's representative, Mike Alfano and plant representative Karen Betts for being patient, patient, and more patient with us and our somewhat late and missing pages. The entire book was done on Macintosh IICi's using Josten's Yeartech program.

The '93 Centurion is set in Adobe Life Roman and Cascade script typefaces. It was printed in Josten's State College, PA, plant. Cover photograph is by senior Candice Intino.
